CAMPUS NEWS

LA SALLE UNIVERSITY'S WEEKLY INFORMATION CIRCULAR

Aug. 24th, 2001

Dear Colleagues,

As we welcome the Class of 2005 I would like to share with you some information on the Honors Program class and extend words of appreciation to some people most instrumental in bringing this group to our campus.

Back in September when recruiting began in earnest, I had set a goal of enrolling between 52 and 60 Honors Program students without sacrificing the standards which have served us so well in the past. These enrollment parameters were dictated by a variety of factors which were based on our available resources. I am most pleased to be able to report an enrollment of 58 students in the Honors Program Class of 2005, with several students being rejected for admission. This result was achieved while keeping the median SAT score of 1320, just above the historic (since re-centering) level. Four of the students held the rank of number one in their graduating class and approximately 60% of the students ranked in the top ten of their classes (of those students coming from high schools that publish class rank). The forty women and eighteen men graduated from forty-nine different high schools. Twenty-six of the new students will be majoring in arts, twelve in science (seven in biology, the most frequently cited major), six in business, and one in nursing. Six have declared dual majors while seven are undecided as to major. Fifty-one will be residing on campus.

As always, a debt of gratitude is owed to Bob Voss and his staff in the admissions office. Their dedication to bringing the La Sallian message and philosophy to some of the top seniors was quite frequently the first step in what would become a matriculated Honors Program student. The faculty who gave so graciously of their time when asked to meet with these students and discuss the advantages of majoring in their discipline at La Salle sent a decidedly positive message to these students and their families. This type of activity continues to be, for me, the most effective recruiting instrument I have.

As a firm believer in continuing with processes that work, I will most likely be calling upon both groups again this year to assist in bringing to La Salle classes that will generate a message that is as positive as I hope this message is. In the meanwhile, "thanks" for your continued assistance and every best wish for an exceptional academic year.

Sincerely,

John S. Grady
Director, Honors Program

Subject: CAMPUS MEDICAL EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

It is important to call La Salle University Security (x1111) immediately for any campus emergency so that a La Salle University Security Officer can assess the situation and determine if Fire Rescue (911) is needed. Five minutes can be the difference between life and death.

Life-threatening emergency- (chest pain, difficulty breathing, uncontrolled bleeding or hemorrhaging, patient unresponsive) Call La Salle University Security (x1111) to contact Fire Rescue (911). The way the system is designed at LaSalle University, only Security can call #911.

Non-life threatening emergency – call La Salle University Security (x1111) who will gather pertinent information and perform one of the following:

- If the student is able to move, is in no acute distress, is willing and it is within normal business hours, La Salle University Security will bring the student to the Student Health Center (x1565). After hours, the student will be taken to the ER or has the option to wait until the Student Health Center is open in the morning.
- If student is unable to move (fainting, pain, etc.), La Salle University Security (x1111) will call Fire Rescue 911.
- During normal business hours, if the La Salle University Security Officer is unsure of the action to be taken, then he/she will call the Student Health Center* for direction. After normal business hours, the La Salle University Security Officer will contact the La Salle University Security Shift Supervisor to decide course of action.
- During normal business hours, if the student refuses to go to the ER, La Salle University Security will call the Student Health Center * to consult. After normal business hours, the La Salle University Security Officer will call the La Salle University Security Shift Supervisor to determine best course of action.
- If the patient is a faculty/staff member and the situation involves more than first aid, La Salle University Security will transport the faculty/staff member to the Emergency Room; if the medical situation is work related, employees will be advised to go to the Workers' Comp clinic at Continuum Health Care at Germantown Hospital Medical Office Building (Suite 210 #215-438-5390).

* The nurse practitioners in the Student Health Center function in the capacity of health consultants to help determine the course of action but may not be available to go to the scene of the emergency.

LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

DEAN, SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
PHILADELPHIA, PA 19141-1199

TO: La Salle Community

FROM: Margaret M. McManus Dea
Interim Dean, School of Arts and Sciences

I am very pleased to announce that Linda Carlin has been appointed as Assistant Dean in the School of Arts and Sciences, effective September 4. In this role, Linda will advise new and undecided liberal arts undergraduate students, monitor academic progress, and validate students for graduation. Additionally, Linda will work with other offices on-campus regarding administrative procedures and technological aspects of the Dean's office.

Linda has served the University in many capacities: as the Director of the MBA program, the Assistant Director of the MBA program, as Academic Advisor in the Graduate Education Program, and as Administrative Assistant in the Graduate Education Program.

Please join me in welcoming Linda to her new responsibilities.

DATE: August 22, 2001

SUBJECT: New University Web Design

The Office of University Communications is pleased to announce this week's launching of a new home page design for the La Salle University web site.

The new look is the result of much collaboration over a period of more than a year, which included written surveys of students, faculty and administrators, as well as the input of an advisory committee and reviews of sample designs by all segments of the La Salle University community.

We are most interested in your feedback about the new site, not only its look but also its functionality. Web Manager Joe Biondo has created a feedback form, which can be accessed via "Web Contact," under Quick Links.

We want you to be our partners in developing a dynamic and useful web site.

Things in the job market have changed over the last year. Evidence is everywhere. Flashy titles, quirky perks, and anxious recruiters have been replaced by layoffs, conservative estimates of hiring needs, and anxious students.

As anxious as students are, there are time-tested and effective methods of standing out and getting noticed in the job market. Getting professional experience through internships and co-ops, writing a concise and effective resume, and developing strong interviewing skills are some ways in which our students can continue to excel when reports seem ominous.

We offer an on-line database of employer contacts and job leads, called eXplorenet. Through On-Campus Recruiting and the job fairs, we have brought some of the top employers such as, Pfizer, Johnson & Johnson, Horizon House, and Dow Jones & Company, to interview La Salle students. However, in order to make it worth their while, these employers want to have informed and interested students ready to meet with them.

Career Services ardently believes that one of our primary responsibilities to students is preparation. We can best help students prepare for life after La Salle when they come to us early in their academic career.

As faculty, staff, and administrators we invite you to find out more about what we provide students by attending one of our Career Services Orientations. We also ask for your assistance by announcing the Orientation sessions to your graduating seniors.

The La Salle Ambassador Program is designed to promote La Salle University, its interests, goals, and traditions to students, parents, alumni and friends of the University. The Ambassadors will represent La Salle at university functions including alumni receptions, Homecoming, Parents' Weekend, Admissions events, and other special events.

Enclosed please find a tentative calendar of events for the ambassadors as well as a request form. If your department or area is hosting a special event and you would be interested in utilizing the help of the student ambassadors, please submit the enclosed form to Box 809.

On behalf of the La Salle Ambassadors, many thanks for your support!

Sincerely,

Trey P. Ulrich
Advisor
